Dear Conductor White,

I am very pleased to know you have been appointed a Conductor, RACC. To reach this, the highest appointment for soldiers, not only in the RACC but in the Army, reflects great credit on your Service to our Corps.

The ancient and honourable title of Conductor was first used in 1327 according to the Statute of Westminster of that date. There is also a record for 1544 showing that six Conductors of Ordnance were appointed in a Train of Artillery under the command of Sir Thomas Seymour. This honourable and prestigious appointment is now exclusive to the RACC.

I send you my warmest congratulations on having been selected for this historic appointment, and offer my best wishes to you for the future.

Yours sincerely,
N H Speller
